

Mrs. Bowie Returns, Ready To Carry Work Of Y. M. C. A. Rapidly Forward

By DOROTHY B. JOHNSON.

MRS. HENRY T. BOWIE, who has been absent from El Paso for two weeks, on a mission for the Y. M. C. A. that took her to New York, Chicago and Denver, is expected back later this Friday. She is just at present, visiting her father in Loveland, Colo. Upon her return, she energetic president of the big woman's organization will take charge of an institute for war workers, which is to be held here in the near future.

It is rumored that a plan is on foot to have women secretaries at the various camps, who will volunteer to serve at the various Y. M. C. A. huts from 8 o'clock on—these women will tend toward a good morale for the men in khaki and do away with profanity and other "non-essentials," say those who are advocating the innovation.

Present prospects indicate a big program of work at the Y. M. C. A. this fall. Miss Blanche Campbell, executive secretary, who has been away for six weeks in Oklahoma, will return the last of this week to resume her duties. Mrs. M. A. Warner, extension chairman, and her splendid committee, are already mapping out activities.

Word has just been received from Miss Lutz Deyo, who has been in the east since the middle of May, that she will return to El Paso the last of August and take up her position again at the Y. M. C. A. September 1.

Word has just been received also from the national headquarters that Miss Dora Gilbert will be sent to El Paso at the expense of the national board of the Y. M. C. A. for social and recreational work. Miss Gilbert has been instructor in voice in the Ida school, Newton, Mass. She will be associated in her work in El Paso with Miss Helena Buffaker, who has recently been sent to the local Y. M. C. A. by the national board for special work.

Anniversary of the Birth of Lucy Stone

Today is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lucy Stone, called the "morning star of the woman's rights movement." She was born Aug. 12, 1818, in West Brookfield, Mass., and was the first Massachusetts woman to take a college degree. She earned her way through college by teaching and doing house work in the boarding hall, having sold berries to obtain her first books.

When she began her fight for women's rights, her eloquence and simplicity soon attracted attention. Her first lecture was in 1840, and she headed a call for a woman's rights meeting in Worcester, Mass., and the gathering attracted national wide and in many cases world wide attention. For the next five years she headed and organized each annual convention of women's rights gatherings.

She helped to organize the American Equal Rights association in 1848 and in 1849, with Julia Ward Howe and others, organized the American Anti-Slavery Society. She was always identified with and a leader in the work for women.

At one time her property was seized for taxation and, as the baby's cradle was seized along with other furniture, she wrote a protest, her baby in her lap, against taxation without representation, that became famous.

Throughout the country women today pay tribute to this daring pioneer of their cause.

Erma Woodard, "Folly and Sakey," Flora Kahan and Verna Hugg.

Miss Helen Stevenson entertained the American Equal Rights Society at the First Christian church, Saturday afternoon, at her home, 614 North Oregon. Josephine Hackler was leader for the afternoon, when the following program was given:

Mrs. Donald S. Perry Hostess At Cards At Her Home In Fort Bliss

YELLOW furnished the motif for an exquisitely appointed bridge, given in her attractive quarters at the army post, Monday afternoon, by Mrs. Donald S. Perry, a smart courtesy to Miss Margaret Johnson, of Nashville, Tenn., and the latter's sister, Mrs. A. M. Harper, (nee Sophie Frances Johnson).

To the minutest detail was the pretty color scheme observed, candles shaded in delicate yellow, the hand decorated tully cards, orange cake and sherbet and food fruit beverage accentuating the idea. The tulle wrapped prizes were tied fetchingly in ribbon boxes of shimmering gold (one Mrs. H. C. Holdridge winning high score, and receiving a handsome embroidered card table cover).

Mrs. Wingate Battle coming out second victor, for which she was given cards; and the guests' favors, presented Miss Johnson and Mrs. Harper who, respectively, received a vanity case and a hand embroidered handkerchief.

Mrs. Perry assisted in receiving the card party to have been given Wednesday night for the boys of the 305th machine gun unit, Fort Bliss. Mrs. Perry has been indefinitely postponed.

Many Women Volunteers Are Needed To Make Red Cross Surgical Dressings

MRS. HORACE W. BROADBENT, local director of women's work at the El Paso chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. D. Bruce Smith, of the surgical dressings department, are in distress. They need at least 200 more women to assist in making the various dressings that are especially needed just now.

in coming with the demand from the front, and are sending out a call for workers.

Every woman in El Paso is asked to report for duty at the fourth floor rooms of the White House, and give every morning the call to the Red Cross. The hours during the summer are made short—from 9 a. m. to noon. Instructors are there, willing to show volunteers just how to make the dressings.

The new Franklin Hotel, 121, auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will see every morning the call to the Red Cross. The hours during the summer are made short—from 9 a. m. to noon. Instructors are there, willing to show volunteers just how to make the dressings.

Anna Held, The Actress, Dies

Succumbs to Myeloma, Rare Disease, Following Long Illness.

New York, Aug. 13.—Anna Held, the well known and popular petite French actress, died here Monday afternoon, following an illness of several months.

Miss Held had been ill since April of a rare malady known as a disintegration of the spinal marrow, and her condition was reported several times as critical. She rallied repeatedly, however, and, until attacked by pneumonia a few weeks ago, was regarded as on the road to recovery.

Her physicians said that only her remarkable will power had prevented her from succumbing long ago.

Anna Held was born in Paris, in 1873, of a Polish mother and a French father. Upon the death of her father, the family moved to London, where, for two years prior to going upon the stage
